Teachers Get Pay Hike From Board

All certified teachers of the Tahoe–Truckee Unified School District will receive a 16 per cent across–the–board pay hike during the coming academic year.

That was a decision of the district board of education.

The school officials also agreed that 59 classified employes should receive an eight per cent salary increase.

The salary schedule for teachers will now start at $7,308, with a top of $13,050.

Salaries for classified workers will start at $367 per month and go to $758 in 11 steps.

Also during the meeting of school trustees, requests from students at Tahoe–Truckee High School that the dress code be revised were rejected.

The student requests were denied at a meeting of the board last week after parents turned out to oppose any changes in the dress code.

The decision came after a month of meetings between the board, teachers, parents and students.

Parents of Tahoe–Truckee students backed their opposition with a petition signed by 115 residents of the community. The petition stated the parents protest to changes in the dress code.

Changes being asked by the students included allowing boys to wear hair to the shoulders provided that the hair is clean and neat at all times; allowing boys to wear sideburns an inch below the ear and always neatly trimmed; letting girls wear skirt lengths dictated by good taste, and allowing girls to wear pants, slacks or jeans in classrooms and at informal activities.

School rules now state that boys' sideburns may be worn to the bottom of the ear. Hair has to be trimmed or tappered up the back of the neck and above the collar line, plus being short enough to stay out of the eyes.

Code of dress for girls says skirts must be at least three–fourths of the way from the waist to the knee. They are only allowed to wear slacks during snowstorms or on very cold days.

One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

Last week I armed myself with a bulging portfolio of damning evidence against a proposed water project at Dos Rios on the Eel River and, having faithfully completed my research, was prepared to do battle with our latter day sorcerer's apprentice, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The corps was, with the guarded blessings of Gov. Ronald Reagan and the loud and clear opposition of nearly everybody else in the state, about to build $400 million worth of high earth–fill dam which would have destroyed a mjaor river and its unique fishery, flooded agriculturally rich Round Valley and with it the town of Covelo, and forever inundated Round Valley Indian Reservation and some 400 valuable archeological sites.

The Dos Rios dam would have been illogical, ruinously expensive, predictably obsolete, and brutally destructive, in the words of the Sierra Club, and I was all prepared to borrow their figures to prove it.

But all this has been in vain. Governor Reagan, under pressure from an arroused citizenry, last week prudently suggested to the engineers that they might like to look around for an alternate site.

A major engagement was won by the forces for conservation to the great benefit of the people of California.

My purpose in critically evaluating the Dos Rios project was to draw a parallel between that and a proposed dam on the Truckee River. It often seems the Army engineers, like the sorcerer's apprentice, are impossible to turn off when they have their teeth in a project, even in the face of almost total opposition.

It's comforting to know the corps can sometimes be "persuaded" to turn to alternatives when the primary objective is proven to be contrary to the best public interest.

People of Reno and the Truckee Meadows are understandably concerned about flooding and they have a right to ask for and receive a reasonable degree of protection, but it is highly questionable that a dam on the Truckee would provide more than a negiligible amount of benefit.

The Army Corps of Engineers use what they call a "benefit–cost ratio" in their preliminary reports on proposed dams – an evaluation the Sierra Club describes as "a device of statistical legerdemain" – and it might be well to subject the Truckee River report to the same analysis that was applied to Dos Rios.

There are flood control alternatives for the Truckee; cheaper, more efficient, safer, less destructive than a dam. Existing dams at Tahoe City, Donner Lake, Prosser Creek, and Boca are already affording protection for Reno, and a new dam in Stampede Valley will soon add its immense storage capacity to the total.

That's five dams already on the Truckee and its major tributaries. A sixth, scheduled for Martis Creek, is likely to get under way this summer.

It's not too late to save the Truckee. It might not be too late to save the little creek meandering through the meadow out in Martis Valley either, but it will take a concerted effort over a long period of time by an organized populace to prevent needless, wasteful, destructive dams from being built on either of these streams.

BABY OF DISTINCTION– North Lake Tahoe's only Mother's Day (almost) and Centennial baby, Sean Ronan Spalding, who bowed into the world at Tahoe Forest Hospital May 12, has the added distinction of probably being the last baby to be delivered by Dr. Ray Wiser. Dr. Wiser has turned over his obstetrical cases to the new staff OB gynocologyst, Dr. William M. Donnelly. Shown at the hospital last week are, from left, Lois Hickey, R.N., hospital director of nursing service, Sean and his mother, Mrs. Carl Paul Spalding of Tahoe City, and Dr. Wiser. – Sun Photo

Nurse Finds 'Mom' Life Is Different

By FLORENCE BURGE
Sun Staff Reporter

What is it like to have your very own first baby after seven years as a hospital nurse taking care of new mothers and babies?

"I knew everything," said Mrs. Carl Spalding. "But when it happened it was ...WOW... quite different. That's all I can say!"

And Tahoe Forest Hospital Director of Nurses Lois Hickey also had a comment on the subject.

"Nurses don't know much about being a patient after spending years in a maternity department."

Mrs. Spalding is on a six month leave of absence from the Tahoe Forest Hospital where she worked for the last two years as the registered nurse in charge of the maternity department.

The former Beverly Sweeney, she had five years in maternity nursing before coming to this area. She and her husband, Carl P. Spalding, are the parents of Sean Ronan, who made his debut Monday, May 12, at Tahoe Forest Hospital.

And what is it like for the doctor to deliver a woman's first baby, a big one at that (Sean weighed in at 10 lbs.) for someone who "knew everything?"

"Believe me it was quite an experience," said Dr. Ray Wiser.

"But isn't he a fine baby," the doctor added.

It's hard to tell who is the proudest of Sean: his doctor, his mother or his father.

Poor father. He has little place in the sterile hospital atmosphere where he can only gaze longingly at his first born son through a plate glass window. Father is lucky if Sean condescends to open an eye or display a contented yawn for his dad's hungry surveillance.

"I can hardly wait to get him nome," says Carl Spalding not bothering to take his eyes off his son. The likeness between the two is unmistakable.

Mrs. Spalding maintains father is doing as well as can be expected, "but I have to have him in to lunch at the hospital so he'll eat."

As for Sean Ronan Spalding, "named after two Catholic priests," he has little concern for the distinction of being "almost" a Mother's Day baby.

And he could care less that he was born 100 years too late to be a part of the 1869 completion of the transcontinental railroad but instead was born on its centennial at Truckee, a key historical landmark.

By now, however, Sean has discovered the warm but not so sterile atmosphere of home where daddy gets to hold his son and grandma, Mrs. Charles Sweeney, is assisting daughter Beverley with maternal duties. Mrs. Sweeney arrived in Tahoe City Friday from South Bend, Ind.

And now that she's home, Mrs. Spalding recalls with laughter that SHE was going to have a small baby – "seven pounds at the most."

She remembers the night at the hospital when she couldn't sleep a wink but Sean slept the entire time, not even awakening for his feeding.

She frankly admits, finally, that she didn't know quite everything after all.

But it was all well worth it because she's sure the Spaldings have a futre All American for the Notre Dame football team to follow in grandpa Sweeney's footsteps.

Tahoe City Development Given O.K.

Placer County Planning Commission has given approval for a multimillion dollar residential development and shopping center along California 28 northeast of Tahoe City.

Planned by land owners Paul S. Lawrence and Paul Nave are 91 quadplex structures and an eight–acre commercial project on mostly open land north of Lake Forest Road.

A conditional use permit and tentative map was granted to engineers Murry & McCormick Inc.

McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento is the developer.

The commission, in giving tentative approval to the development, followed a list of some 30 recommended conditions placed on the project, including adequate parking, recreation sites, highway landscaping, underground utilities and reseeding of cuts and fills.

Barrett Ends Local Draft Board Duty

Walter M. Barrett, former copublisher and editor of the Sierra Sun, announced this week that he had resigned his position as registrar for Local Board No. 16, Selective Service System and that the duties of the office had been taken over by Ray Craig, county laiason officer.

In the future Craig will register youths when they reach the age of 18 as required by Selective Service and will issue transportation and meal requests for those being called for examinations or induction. He will also provide advise for registrants and those leaving the service.

Barrett registered the first boy when the draft became effective during World War II and has held the post, which incidentally is without compensation, since that time. He was presented a 25–year service certificate three years ago by the then state director, Col. Kenneth Leitch.

Stab Victim Is Found

A man described as being in his 20's has been found stabbed to death in his motel room at Tahoe City. He was tentatively identified as Roberto Auogadri of Italy.

Placer County Sheriff's officials, who report the man was stabbed in his chest, are still trying to establish how the death occurred.

Investigation is continuing to determine if the stab wound were self–inflicted or involved foul play.

The victim had been living in the Tahoe City motel room since March 18.

His body was taken to Auburn where an autopsy is being performed.

Burglary Reported

Once again the Mini–Mart store in the Gateway Park Shopping Center has been the victim of burglars.

Some time Tuesday night thieves broke a window in a rest room, tore away a heavy screen and entered the building. A large quantity of merchandise including cigarettes, flashlights, women's stockings and other items was taken.

During recent days several of the large plate glass windows in the store have been broken by what appeared to be small–caliber bullets fired into the front of the store.

Officers are still without a clue to the identity of the culprits responsible for either the burglary or the senseless shooting.

Lake Tahoe Said 'Much Deeper' As Scientists Probe Basin Area

Discovery of bottom sediments at least half a mile thick and a series of active underwater faults in Lake Tahoe was reported this week by University of Southern California scientists.

In a geological study of the huge California–Nevada resort lake using modern methods and equipment, the USC investigators found that the actual depression which holds the lake is more than twice as deep as previously realized.

The sediments were washed into Lake Tahoe during glacial times between 10,000 and about two million years ago when huge mountain glaciers emptied into it, according to Norman Hyne, USC doctoral candidate in geological sciences, who conducted the field work.

The sedimentary material, composed of sand, clay, silt and some volcanic ash, lies under more than 1,600 feet of water. It extends "at least" half a mile down to the actual granite floor of the lake, Hyne said in an interview.

Hyne and USC oceanographic technician Glenn Rattman discovered two major sets of underwater faults in the lake.

One extends about five miles south from Stateline Point, the north shore resort area. The other faults discovered are also along the northern shore.

"The faults appear to be relatively recent in geological history, and there are evidences of recent movement. At least one, and probably several, are active today," Hyne declared.

"There is a good probability that the Lake Tahoe area is subject to earthquakes due to the presence of the faults. I'm surprised to learn that none have been recorded there, although these may not have moved since man has lived in the area," he said.

The faults, Hyne said, appear to be associated with the Front Line Sierra Fault, which runs the length of the High Sierra.

Hyne said Stateline Point, where several resorts and casinos are located, is on a large fault, and estimates that the point itself was uplifted to its present elevation at least a quarter of a mile. The south side of the lake is situated on an old glacial delta which filled in the lake, the USC scientist reported.

Hyne and Rattman also discovered a series of submarine canyons located off the west shore of the lake. These were caused, he believes, by a pattern of underwater currents.

The USC scientists said that the sounding device they used could penetrate only half a mile into the bottom sediments. They were unable to determine the exact depth to the lake's granite floor.

"It's possible that when we use a larger sounding device with greater capabilities we'll find that the sediments are considerably deeper than half a mile, which would mean that the lake depression is far deeper than previously believed," Hyne said.

Working under the supervision of Dr. Donn Gorsline, professor of geological sciences at USC, Hyne and Rattman are studying the contents of deep piston cores of the sediment which they collected. The results of the study are expected to unravel a number of mysteries of geological history of the area, including the age of the High Sierra, which were formed about the time Lake Tahoe came into existence.

Recreation Fund

Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'–berg, D–Sacramento, last week proposed creation of an annual $50 million California local recreation fund by introducing a measure in the State Assembly.

The "California Local Recreation Fund" bill is designed to help local governments, cities, counties and park and recreation districts meet their burgeoning recreational needs and is similar to his measure AB 1797, introduced in the closing days of the 1968 session.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

Wednesday night, May 14, we attended a school board meeting at which the high school student dress code was to be discussed. This was the third time that students from the high school had met with the board. Four able high school students appeared before the board to present the student's request regarding the dress code.

The board room was overflowing with interested adults and students. A motion was made and recorded, by a board member, to reinstate the student dress code as drawn up in the fall of 1968, with one exception: Two days per month students would be able to dress as they wished, provided it was done with discretion.

The proposed dress code to be adopted by the board was read to all present. During the discussion, one of the students addressed the board and in a precise, orderly manner, stated that students were in favor of the dress code as proposed, but with several changes which in his opinion were minor. Other students addressed the board regarding their position on the matter. Interested spectators also addressed the board in a proper manner for and against the dress code changes.

The student dress code is a serious matter for those affected, primarily the students. As the students stated, they were attempting to gain acceptance of their proposed dress code by due process before the board. Although the students presented their case in a regulated and courteous manner, some adults showed discourtesy by breaking into the student's presentation with irrelevant and inane remarks from the floor.

It is recognized that the subject of personal appearance and dress can become highly emotional, but how can we expect students attempting to effect a change in rules by prescribed adult procedures to learn maturity and poise when they are met by immaturity and discourtesy in adults? On the basis of this conduct, students cannot help but question the ability and capacity of some adults to make rules and pass judgement on them. Constructive statements, on the other hand, based on reason, could be accepted by students and could influence their thought.

We would ask the board, as the ultimate decision lies with it, to make its judgement logically and on a non-emotional basis. We would ask that rules not be made on an arbitrary basis, as rules of this nature are often indefensible, but on the basis of reasonableness.

It behooves us all to attempt to guide the youths we contact not by ridicule, emotion, or arbitrary rules, but by reason, patience and wisdom. Whether we are for or against the dress code, the greatest understanding must come from us.

MR. & MRS. J. E. HOULGATE

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

I am a student in the 11th grade who is presently attending Tahoe-Truckee High School. Referring back to a certain board meeting, I would just like to say this: I am one person who is for the proposal that long hair should be left up to the descrimination of the parents.

The faculty is not there to "police" the school. If this is what is expected of them, then not only should they be paid a salary for teaching but also for being a policeman.

I don't understand how communism ties in with the want for long hair. I have found no communistic tendencies at the high school.

I am also one of the many girls who dresses in "up-to-date" fashions, which consist of short but not revealing dresses and skirts, and I can assure you that I am not pregnant. The statement that was made that short-skirted girls get pregnant seems to have no basis of fact upholding it. If there are any, I would certainly like to see them.

The students were commended on the way they conducted themselves at the meeting. As for the parents that were there – well, I can only say that you are contradiciting yourselves because where do you think the students learned to behave like that? At home, taught by their parents.

I have written this letter on my own accord, not just to express a single opinion but hopefully to get some people thinking. I would like to thank the Sierra Sun for this opportunity.

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

Do you know who your firemen are? Do you want to know? Do you take them for granted? Do you appreciate them?

They are men with something called guts, love of community, respect for you and your property, and something secret we can't figure out. We, the Fire-Ettes, are glad there are such men with that certain something it takes to be a volunteer fireman.

They are thankless heroes, quietly doing an important job for nothing. These men never ask for thanks. They leave their warm beds, a meal to grow cold, willing to drop everything when they are needed.

They don't strike for wages (they get none). I shudder to think what would happen to my home, trailer, apartment, cabin, car, or what have you, if these men decided not to volunteer.

We, the auxiliary, feel these men are entitled to up-to-date equipment. They need it now, not next year. Help us to replace the old fashioned axe with a combination chain saw that will go through concrete, steel, a roof or wall, to enable them to quickly get to the heart of the fire. Help them to get a much needed smoke mask with self-contained breathing and communication to the outside. They need equipment to help them get to a fire hydrant under tons of snow.

The always important fire district tax covers basic fire equipment needs but does not buy the smaller but very important items. We have put on many fund-raising events, but after expenses only part of the money can be used. You could write your supervisor and demand better equipment, but this would mean more taxes and by the time that extra dollar pays secretary, bookkeeper, checks, stamps, and other expenditures, you realize only a small fraction of benefit from your dollar.

If each establishment, home, trailer, or what have you, would say, "Thank you, Mr. Fireman" with a donation of $1, they could have what they need. Sent it at your own free will and the full $1 will be used to purchase equipment. Your donation adds to better protection and, most of all, a boost to the morale of your volunteer firemen.

We, the auxiliary, are a non-profit organization and every cent we make after expenses goes to the firemen. Won't you please help us to help them. We will let you know through this paper every new piece of equipment we buy with your donation. Won't you please send your dollar to me or leave it with any merchant, and you can say, "This is a dollar well spent."

SUNBEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

The selection of Carl Briggs editor of the Sierra Sun, to head the Truckee – Donner Chamber of Commerce was, in our opinion, a wise choice.

Briggs, although a resident of the area for only little more than a year, has developed a sincere regard for the community and has a thorough knowledge of its needs. Coupled with his position as editor of the local newspaper, in itself a positive promotional vocation, we can envision a progressive, far-looking administration.

However, Briggs cannot by himself accomplish the things sorely needed in the community. He must have the united support of the people he will serve and this will result in a booster organization second to none. In the past the chamber as promoted and supported numerous projects and programs which have been of great benefit to the area. However, there remains a task of magnitude if the area is to continue its upward and onward movement and with Briggs at the head, supported by his fellow chamber members, we can see progress continuing and speeding up.

As a past president of the chamber and past editor of the Sun, we feel at liberty to make a few suggestions, whether or not they are carried out. We would like to see continued efforts to brighten up the downtown section with more adequate sidewalks, fresh paint, fewer vacancies, and above all a sense of pride in the town.

We believe the area should be advertised through the circulation of brochures with more information being distributed pointing our our assets. Each new business and family should be greeted and made welcome. Active participation in all community events such as was exemplified by the recent centennial is a must. There are many other things to be done and we believe Carl Brigs is a good man to head the drive. We wish him and the chamber the very best of luck.

Behind The Scenes At Area Schools

CHEESE SANDWICH DAY – Sallie Prouty, head cook at Tahoe Lake School, takes toasted cheese sandwiches from oven while her assistant Hilda Anderson stands ready with another tray to heat. They prepare and serve an average of 250 meals a day made up from a prepared menu. Their day starts at 7 o'clock. Able assistants are the six students who help serve the food, clean up and wash tables after lunch and wash dishes.

Employes Provide Many Services To Pupils, Teachers

By FLORENCE BURGE

Unsung, hard working heroes behind the scenes of every child's school day are the hundreds of lay employes without which neither schools nor teachers could function well.

They are the 42,000 members of the statewide California School Employes Association. To honor them, Gov. Ronald Reagan has proclaimed the week of May 25 through May 31 as Classified School Employes Week.

The 41-year-old group numbers 42,000 members providing service for some 100,000 persons in 120 California school districts.

Purpose of the organization is to support teachers and schools. Association chapters annually contribute money for undergraduate scholarships and also promote educational programs for all classified personnel. The programs are designed to improve the classified employes' work skills so they may better serve the students and teachers.

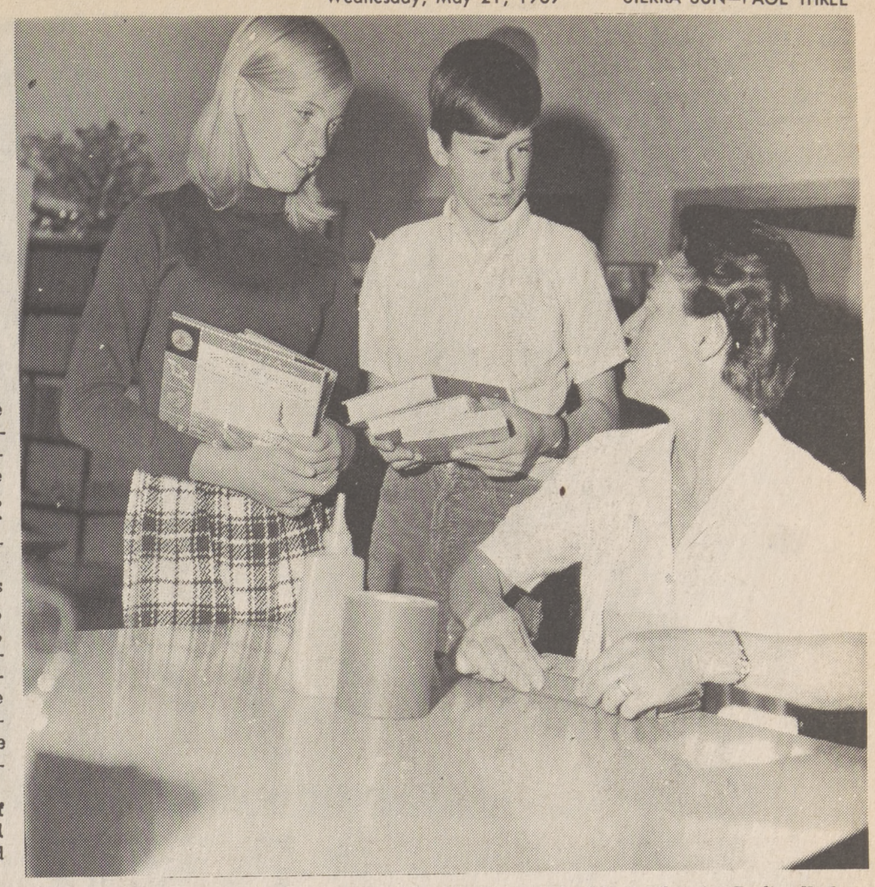
In the Tahoe Truckee Unified School District there are some 60 such persons to served the Kings Beach, Tahoe Lake, Truckee and Donner Trail elementary schools as well as the Tahoe Truckee High School. President of the local chapter is Frank Lawson, head of Equipment Maintenance.

Classified employes serve as school bus drivers, custodians, cooks, librarians, mechanics, equipment operators, carpenters, painters and secretaries. Offen they serve in double capacity. Days may be exceptionally long, but seldom is there an unwillingness to do their utmost.

These employes are proud of their status and the integral part they play in the total field of education.

And while they may be "unsung," immearsurable rewards come from teachers and students alike who refer to "our custodian," "my bus driver" or "the painter said."

We are proud, too, to display in accompanying pictures a representative group of classified school employes from this district.



LIBRARIAN – Book mending is just one of the jobs Tahoe Lake School Librarian Pauline Keehn accomplishes while listening to the needs of students Nancy Anaclerio and Robert Fiedler. There is catalogueing to be done, conferences with teachers in regard to books to be purchased, checking in and out the books and overseeing volunteer mothers who assist. The library here that started with 50 books has grown in just a few years to contain from 8,000 to 10,000 books. Each class has one library period weekly plus extra periods arranged by individual teachers.

LAWNS TOO – Custodian Milton Childers at Tahoe Elementary School has inside and outside work with lawns to water, mow and trim as well as the daytime maintenance of the school building. Front doors are washed every day or every other day and windows once a week. Bathrooms are checked constantly and floors are kept nearly spotless. The summer months provide the time to do "spring house cleaning" – washing walls and outsides of windows.

LAST MINUTE CONFERENCE – Ed Zucchini, district transportation supervisor, confers with Driver Wade Hensley as Hensley prepares to leave the yards at Tahoe Truckee High School to pick up a load of children. All drivers must have a Class 2 Chauffeur's License as well as a School Bus Driver's Certificate from the California Highway Patrol. To obtain these they must take a written test, a first aid test and a driving test.

SECRETARY – Cleta Liddle at the Kings Beach Elementary School combines many skills to do the job of assisting school principal Mr. Price. There are letters to write, statistics to compile, reports to be typed. And there are four days a week when Mrs. Liddle mends hurts as "school nurse." "I've done everything but drive the bus, teach and cook" she says. ,"There are no two days alike."

CUSTODIAN – Orlin Waters at Donner Trail Elementary School has a long day starting at 7 in the morning but the students are just as proud as he is of their bright, clean school. Floors are swept twice a day and waxed once a week. Bathrooms are cleaned twice a day. Just at present Waters is also filling in as school bus driver.

BIG SAVINGS _ Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Lonergan receives refunds totaling $23,554.44 from state safety representative Greg Tomko, representing savings resulting from the excellent safety record of Placer County school employees . . . The refunds are for the years 1967 and 1965.

Safety Does Pay Off . . .

Safety paid off in Placer County schools when dividend checks in the amount of $23,554.44 were recently returned to Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Lonergan, representing savings from the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

Efficient operation in the field of safety by the employes of Placer County schools made the refunds possible, Lonergan explained.

Greg Tomko, state fund safety coordinator, was present to deliver the check to the Superintendent of Schools.

Continued safety efforts by the districts will result in greater savings to the tax payers, Tomko stressed.

Highland Fling

By CATHY FIELDS

On Friday, May 9, Junior Statesmen of America (JSA) members, Neil Solomon, Susan Bub, Sue Wyland, Patti Allyn, Sharon Hughes, Carrie Smith, and teacher adviser, Mrs. Harriet Price, went on a field trip to Fresno.

The group left Incline High School at 6:30 a.m. via a chartered Greyhound. Along the way, the bus made stops at Truckee, Roseville, and Turlock, to pick up other JSA members. The students and Mrs. Price arrived at the convention at approximately 11:30 a.m.

Upon their arrival, the students went to the lobby of the Fresno Hacienda, to register. From 12:30 to 1 p.m. the opening session was held and JSA Gov. Robert B. Jacobsen gave the "State of the State" address.

Presentation and voting on various legislative resloutions were scheduled from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m. Following the voting, there was a student discussion.

The Hon. Ronald Reagan, governor of California, gave his keynote address at 2:30 p.m.

Gov. Reagan spoke on various subjects, one of which was his comparison of Rome's second century to the United States of today.

He referred to Rome by saying "during the second century, men began to use cosmetics and it was hard to distinguish the men from the women."

It's easy to understand why he compared that, of all things, to the United States.

Gov. Reagan also spoke on student violence. He said that "violence on campuses was financed and planned years ago." He claimed there is a handful of professional students, aged 28–38, who travel from Budapest to Havana, Moscow, and Hanoi. One of these leaders was made an honorary nephew of Ho Chi Min.

One of the questions that Gov. Reagan answered was, "Should Red China be admitted to the United Nations?" The Governor stated that Red China does not meet the regulations of the U. N. Charter. If the charter were to be changed, then, and only then, would Red China even come close to meeting the requirements.

Gov. Reagan also discussed his mental health program. This problem is second only to his personal distress about present campus problems.

From 4 to 5 o'clock, a Senate meeting was held in the Las Vegas Room. Merk Wozny lieutenant governor of JSA, presided.

Dinner was served from 6 to 11 a.m. Nominations and acceptance speeches were made for the offices of attorney general, liutenant governor, and governor.

Following dinner and the speeches, JSA mebers attended an informal dance. Curfew was at 1 a.m.

Saturday, May 10, following breakfast, the senate and assembly met to discuss more resolutions. This meeting lasted until noon.

Luncheon was served from 12 to 1:30. Also, from 12 to 2, votes were cast for the officers–elect. Governor–elect is Dave Carlson, present mayor of the Angeles Region.

The senate and assembly met again to discuss legislative resolutions. At 4 p.m., two discussion groups were held, one in the San Joaquin Room. This discussion pertained to the division of Northern and Southern California.

The second discussion took place in the Palomino Room. This discussion pertained to the preservation of free speech, free press, and free assembly.

Between 6 and 8:30 p.m. a formal, governor's banquet took place.

Awards were given by Richard Prosser, election results were revealed by Gov. Jacobsen and announcements were made by Comptroller Schraa.

During the banquet, the Incline JSA received its first charter. President Neil Solomon gave a thank–you speech to the Sierra Chapter and said that he was proud to head the first organized chapter in the state of Nevada.

To top off the convention a formal governor's ball was held from 9 p.m. – 1 a.m. Entertainment was provided by "The Chocolate Watchband."

The students left Fresno at 10 a.m. Sunday, May 11.

The Wolerts also received the happy news of the April arrival of their fifth great grand child, Roland Mauro, Jr., who was born in Illinois.

Couple Back From Tour

Sam and Audrey Harrison have returned to their Kings Beach summer home after a month–long "grand tour of the midwest," says Audrey.

The popular San Francisco–Lake Tahoe couple flew from here to Minneapolis where they met Audrey's sister and brother–in–law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feiges. The Feiges are also known in this area having visited here regularly for several years.

From Minneapolis the foursome drove through Des Moines to Kansas City, St. Louis, Springfield Chicago and Racine. They visited relatives and went sight seeing. A sad note was when another sister of Audrey's whom they visited in Chicago had a heart attack.

"It was a wonderful trip," says Audrey. "But after the illness, hitting floods in Minneapolis, a tornado watch in Kansas City and a curfew in Racine, we're REALLY glad to be back at our Lake Tahoe home."

Donner Doings

By VI WHITE

Louise Tapia and her cohostess Laura Harman entertained the Sierra Tinker Belles Garden Club last week. Plans were formulated for the club's Flower Shows and Bazaar Auguse 9, to be held at the old inspection station, now the headquarters of the Truckee Public Utility District.

Numerous items have been made by the members to sell that day; parchment notes, aprons, wastebaskets, glass candle holders, yard stick holders, pinecone arrangements.

The club will hold another workshop at the firehouse May 27.

Several members were out at the Truckee Donner Recreation Park Saturday to transplant ivy from the garden of Hazel and Harold Hall at Donner Lake. We hope it will get well established and climb over the link fence around the baseball diamond. The gals plan to plant hops out there too.

Spring has really arrived here; tulips and daffodils are at their peak and the manzanita is blooming in the wild areas. Have had no reports of snow plants as yet, but they should be plentiful this year with all the dampness.

If you haven't already done so, drive by the hospital and see the bright bulbs in bloom near the entrance.

Mrs. Fannie Phillips of Aberdeen, Washington, is visiting her daughter Hazel Hall and enjoying the balcony overlooking the lake. Incidently, the Hall's garden is lovely too with spring bulbs, and soon the lilacs will be flowering.

* * *

George Pifer, the new District Attorney, is living at Stay and Play Motel on Donner and will be keeping a sharp eye on the Lauren Russell's new home, to be built next to us. Helen and George will be moving into Norma and Russ's present home in Donner Trails by September. They have a 13–year–old daughter who will transfer from the Peninsula to Truckee. Mrs. Pifer is a gracious lady who is retiring from a very successful flower store business to move up here.

Fish are biting at Donner Lake now and many happy fishermen are seen daily along the shore trying their luck. Surprising results are the big plants of last year that survived the winter to grow to 13 and 14 inches.

Keeping up with the diner circuit is quite a chore. Only compensation is that the North Shore diners are so great. Good way to see your neighbors is to attend these evening benefits.

Dr. Smillie of San Rafael has a nice cabin at Donner Lake next to Hazel Hall. He submitted to open heart surgery last week performed by Dr. Shumway. The doctor is famous for his heart transplant work and it looks like Dr. Smillie will recover.

Looks like the Truckee Lions Club will return to Donner Lake Lodge May 28.

Truckee Man In Hospital

Gordon Douglas, 45, well known Truckee resident, was in the intensive care ward of a Reno hospital last week as a result of an industrial accident.

Douglas fell several feet from a crane and fractured one hip. He was taken to the Tahoe Forest Hospital where an examination revealed he had suffered critical head injuries as well. His condition was reported this week as somewhat improved.

Fire Reported

An incipient fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ritchie in Meadow Park last Friday brought out the Truckee Volunteer Fire Department. Reports were that an oil stove in the house exploded. No extensive damage resulted.

Womens Club Holds Election

Audrey Brehler was elected president of Tahoe City Women's Golf Club at the club's annual meeting May 5.

Other officers elected to serve in 1969 with Mrs. Brehler were Jean Holley, secretary; Anita Ormsby, treasurer; Pat Cross, tournament chairman; Marilyn Fugazi, handicap chairman; and Bern Franklin, publicity.

Ladies Day will be held each Wednesday at the Tahoe City Golf Course beginning June 4. Tee off time will be 9:15 a.m.

A general meeting has been scheduled for June 2 at the home of Audrey Brehler at 8 p.m. All members of the club are asked to be in attendance.

Junior Statesmen Field Trip Attended By Local Student

Gary Price, senior at Tahoe Truckee High School and California District president of Junior Statesmen of America, was among area JSA members attending a JSA field trip May 9 in Fresno.

During the meeting where JSA Gov. Robert B. Jacobsen presided, legislative resolutions were formed and voted upon. Those attending also heard California Gov. Ronald Reagan speak on campus violence as well as communism, Red China and his (Reagan's) mental health program.

Local Teacher Wins Tourney

Joe deArrieta, earstwhile Tahoe – Truckee High School basketball coach, teamed with Don Stoker of Winnemucca over the weekend to win the over–all low gross championship in the 11th annual Joe Mackie Star Broiler–Casino Golf Tournament. The pair carded a 139 in the two–man best ball contest played on the Winnemucca Municipal Course.

Keep It Beautiful
If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.
But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.
It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts.
This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Trem Talk

By BETTY SHIVELY

A busy week of campaigning has come to a close. As in all elections, some are victorious and some are not. For the past 10 days a great variety of posters have covered the halls. Last Thursday was the big day for 37 candidates. A sufficient majority vote was achieved in all offices except student body president and vice president. A run–off election is necessary, to be held Tuesday, between Larry Doyle and Doug Linsay for president; Bill Brehler and Vaughn Latoux for vice president. At Friday night's Victory Dance the election results were given as follows: Secretary, Laura Hoxie; treasurer, Susie Fish; J. V. Cheerleaders, Holley Schooley, Julie Morris, Charlotte Keehn, and Sheri Sassarini as head cheerleader; varsity, Leslie McBride, Joyce Smart, Bonnie Weber, and Sue Terry as head cheerleader; songleaders, Martha Pope, Cathy Van Wetter, Lorna Leininger, Chris Keehn, Candy Mariani and Katie Delacy as head songleader. Tahoe–Truckee's tremendous spirit will be promoted by these new officers. Congratulations to each of you and the best of luck.

Another highlight of the week was the result of Wednesday nights' school board meeting concerning the student dress code. The student proposal presented to the board last month was not passed. We are now back to the "original" code of longer dresses; no girls in jeans or pants; no shirttails out; shorter hair on boys and no jeans with holes in them! The students received this news with disappointment, and to use an expression from the adult world, some were "hot under the collar." Perhaps this is not the final end of the dress code. Some students are already talking about their next proposal.

Thursday held a new experience in education. A special "future careers" program was set up by the administration and interested persons to inform the students of many job opportunities open to them. Some of the discussions were Forestry, Biology, Photography, Teaching, Peace Corps, etc. In all, there were 13 different discussion groups. The juniors and seniors were released from their morning classes to attend the "career" day.

Early Water Storage Asked For Stampede

Early storage of water in Stampede Reservoir has been asked by directors of the Carsoh–Truckee Water Conservancy District.

In a letter to Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel, directors asked speedy action on a repayment contract so storage may begin as soon as the reservoir is completed.

Donald Leighton, district secretary, told Hickel nothing has been heard on a necessary supplementary contract, forwarded to Washington three years ago.

Leighton said because of the abundant supply, the need is not imminent, but "the value of Stampede to the municipal and industrial water supply is to increase holdover storage in a dry cycle."

In past dry cycles, the letter said, water shortages have limited Truckee Meadows farm irrigation. Much farm land is being converted to industrial and subdivision use, demanding a more constant supply, the letter stated.

Leighton also asked for a review of the status of the proposed Watasheamu Reservoir project on the Carson River.

North Lake Tahoe Chamber Pot-Shots

By BETTY LAYTON

The scope of the chamber manager's realm has to be broadened too and so attendance was required at the joint Oroville area chamber's safari Friday in showing off their new recreational area created by the completion of the world's largest earth–filled dam.

A tour of the dam by bus was followed by a boat trip on private cruisers of all the inlets, nooks and crannies of the newly formed lake which encompasses a tremendous area with 127 miles of shoreline. It was fortunate that North Lake Tahoe representative lucked into getting on the fine boat owned and operated by the parents of our Placer County planning director, Dick Heikka. Heikka had been the first engineer on the preliminary plans for the dam and his knowledge made the trip extraordinarily interesting.

In order to be knowledgeable on the routes leading to and from Lake Tahoe, the Feather River Route was taken and what a scenic, beautiful trip it is this time of year. There were fields of yellow buttercups in the meadows, banks of purple bluebells and amber colored wildflowers along the route with a fine network of interlacing bridges, Erector–set–style, housing railroad and highway needs.

Many creeks with picturesque names like Little Indian, Paul's, Chamber's, Yellow, Rush, Milk Ranch and Spanish Creek, empty into the river over craggy gorges and create their own sprays of beaut ackbirds were chased off the lane of traffic – no tieups here this time of year. The fruit trees and lilacs abound in color and profusion in the Sierraville area where the livin' looks easy.

And then back to progress and Lake Tahoe. The pipeline tells us from South Shore that all the construction work is going on at NORTH shore this summer. And rumor has it that General American Development Corporation, who did such a fine job in developing Kings Wood and the beach cabana area, has purchased the King Estate property. It is planned that there will be 280 units on the 10 acres, which could be the revival of Kings Beach and setting of the stage for the Kings Beach Downtown Plan. Architects will be invited to submit proposals as to the architectural design and the best plan will be chosen.

A group of civic, tour–oriented business people and good–will ambassadors from Iowa are breezing through the area Saturday, May 24th, in a caravan of 99 people in 26 new Buicks. They will tour Virginia City and the Pondorosa Ranch and will be guests of the Chataux for cocktails on the deck overlooking the Incline Golf Course. The Chamber coordinated that part of the tour and will be there to greet them. They will press on to San Francisco the same day.

A recent survey by the Chamber showed that the average low–priced house in our community sells for $23,000 and the average monthly payment is $160.000. By comparison with other communities, this is extremely high. Even our rental units are high with an average of $165.00 per month. All communities, as they grow, must create a balanced character.

There is evidence that we might achieve this by the recent approval of the Placer County Planning Commission for 364 units located in the Lake Forest Meadows. Each unit is part of a quadplex and in total there will be 91 quadplexes. It is proposed that these units which will be FHA insured will sell for about $18,000 with less than $900 down and monthly payments of approximately $130. The program will be an attribute to the area and will provide much needed housing for permanent residents of Lake Tahoe with modest to middle incomes.

* * *

There will be a short business meeting of the Board of Directors, Wednesday, May 21, to approve of the 1969–70 Budget. The budget will be presented to the Placer County Board of Supervisors in the Chamber's request for some promotional funds directly from the county.

Buddy Poppy Sale Slated

"In Flanders Fields the poppies blow . . ." so went the immortal words of Col. John McCrae's poem.

Little did he realize when he penned those lines that some day the very poppies of which he wrote would be the true symbol of all those who gave their lives in our nation's wars. But that is the case today.

Annually, the Veterans of Foreign Wars sponsors the Buddy Poppy sale in the North Tahoe – Truckee area to raise money for needy and disabled veterans.

This is their way of "honoring the dead by helping the living."

Residents can pay their respects Friday and Saturday when the Buddy Poppies will be on sale in this community.

"Do your part – buy a Buddy Poppy and wear it proudly," VFW officials ask.

Spring Clean-Up Move Geared To Fire Safety

"Clean up . . . for fire safety."

This is the basically–important reason for the Spring Clean – Up campaign which starts in the North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District on May 25, Fire Chief Jack Kissinger has announced.

"Fires in U.S. homes are taking about 6,600 lives yearly, according to National Fire Protection Association figures," Kissinger noted.

"One of the major causes of dwelling fires is rubbish and trash – and one American home is destroyed or damaged by fire starting in rubbish every 12 minutes," Kissinger said.

"So our goal for spring clean–up is to make every home in this community safer from fire. This means a concentrated attack on the spots in and around houses where fires start – accumulations in attics, basements and closets, any place there is trash and rubbish.

"Clean–up does many things for the community, but perhaps the most important accomplishment of all is that it will make the homes in this community safer from fire," Kissinger noted.

Cooperating with the Fire Department in community's observance of spring clean–up this year will be the Nevada Division of Forestry.

Highlights of the week will include a program at Incline Elementary School where Smokey the Bear will visit.

Spring clean–up is sponsored internationally by the National Fire Protection Association to promote fire safety throughout the United States and Canada.

At this time, the Board heard from a Mr. James Bunnell, regarding his proposal to put County Insurance out to bid. Matter taken under advisement.

Discussion ensued between Mr. Roberts, Liaison Officer of O.E.D.P., and the Board, regarding the Duties, Responsibilities and Functions of the O.E.D.P. Executive Committee.

The question arose as to who the Task Force was to work under, and the Board directed a letter to Public Works Task Force, to determine who they would prefer to work under.

The Auditor–Controller presented the report of his Department.

There being no further business, meeting adjourned at 4:30 P.M.

NEW STANDARDS FOR DEVELOPERS

The Tahoe Regional Planning Agency recently stated they were considering a new standard for developing in the Tahoe Basin, with split level roads to minimize cuts and fills, planting the cuts and fills, and mandatory green belt areas within the subdivision.

We are proud to point out that we have been doing just this since we started planning GLENRIDGE PARK in 1964.

We are now developing units 2 & 3, with the finest lakeview lots ever offered at Lake Tahoe. Magnificent views of lake and mountains, virtually level building sites, beautifully wooded, easy access directly from hiway 89. You must see them . . . and you will believe.

Pre-season priced from $5950 to $15,000, full price, with reasonable terms or cash discounts.

That's GLENRIDGE PARK, overlooking Meeks Bay. Setting a New Standard of Development for Lake Tahoe.

We also have a few lots left in Tahoma Meadows at $3,950 with improvement on bond, offering heated pool, beach and pier on McKinney Bay.

Because you buy direct from the developers, you pay less than you would expect. See . . .

Approximately 200 employes of the U.S. Forest Service of the Tahoe National Forest gathered at Pioneer Park in Nevada City for a picnic and an annual get-together on Sunday, May 18. Games of the afternoon included badminton, volleyball, horseshoe and a baseball game. Residents from Truckee attending that meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stone and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jere Mitchell and family. An important meeting of the North Tahoe Bowling Association is scheduled for May 26 at the Crystal Bay Club. Plans for the 1970 Nevada State Tournament to be held at Bowl Incline are now in the offing. A great percentage of our association attends all of the state tournaments and enjoy the program that others have put on for visitors; now it is our turn to host the state of Nevada. Let us put our best foot forward and leave a good impression on this group of visitors.

Visitors in town for the centennial celebration who were on the train from Sacramento and other towns along the line included Mrs. Heller from San Rafael, Nelda Gulling and her class of eighth graders from Placerville, and a former sorority sister of Kay Hubbard, Grace Hannibal and her husband, Les, from Fair Oaks.

Word is finally getting around and back from people who attended the celebration that it was every bit as good as anything in Reno. If we can get the community support for activities in general, I am sure that Truckee will not be considered "the forgotten ones" in Nevada County.

More Cuts For 69-70 Nevada County Budget

The 1969-70 Nevada County budget was reduced another $38,471 Tuesday, but a lot more work remains to be done before the supervisors can consider their task completed.

The board went through seven departmental budgets last week with their morning broken by brief interruptions to handle radio bids and a discussion about Overall Economic Development Plan Committee.

Then, the supervisors recessed early to have lunch with Jack Manion of the Economic Development Administration in Washington D.C. They hoped to learn from him some details of the possibility of forming an economic development district for Nevada and four other counties.

The budget reductions made, place the total budget unofficially at this point at $6,582,920, a decrease of $88,305 from the original amounts requested.

Most of the money trimmed resulted from technical changes in individual budgets rather than direct cuts by the board. Here are the budgets the supervisors reviewed:

Insurance–$110,000, same as this year.

Surveyor–$16,300, up $6,300 from this year. The board reached this point by deleting $4,875 from capital outlay, part of which can be financed from the current year's budget.

General services–$130,241, down $4,576 from this year. A technical change was made from the printed budget because of a recomputation of the cost applied factor. This provided a reduction from the original of $7,800.

This general services budget includes $108,840 as the yearly payment on the county's lease-purchase agreement for the government center annex next to the courthouse.

Personnel commission – $5,459, same as this year. A big slice was taken from this budget to restore its projected 1969-70 expenses to this year's level. (see other story p. 1).

Truckee government center – $15,496, up $775. A lawn mower and snow blower were requested but the lawn mower was depleted because, as Truckee Supervisor Willie Curran put it: "we don't have a lawn" at the government center.

The board started to delete the $394 for the snow clearing machine too as has become the custom with capital outlay items. However, it was decided this item is needed for safety to clear the area around the gasoline pump.

OEDP – $26,980, up $11,997 from this year. This budget had another of the technical corrections as the amount listed was almost $50,000, representing the county's share of a planning grant being sought.

However, the grant for which the county officially applied lists the county's share as $26,980.

KITCHEN KREW – It was hard work, but enjoyable for these ladies, who did their share at last Thursday's annual luncheon and card party, sponsored by the Fire Sirens, auxiliary to the North Tahoe Fire Protection District of Incline and Crystal Bay. More than 100 tickets were sold to the event, which raised funds for new equipment and supplies for the Incline and Crystal Bay Fire Station. From left are Jacquie Black, president of the Fire Sirens; Isobel Kissinger, wife of the fire chief; Vivian Hansen, Marilyn Fitzgerald and Bern Franklin.

FISHING WITHOUT A LICENSE? – This unidentified pooch paws at the Truckee River at Tahoe City. What he saw nobody knows – his reflection possibly or a fish looking back. But if the dog had any sense he'd head for a sporting goods store and get some fishing gear – it's that time of the year. If a big one got away, if he could speak, he'd be sure to say "dog–gone."

THE BEST OF SERVICE – Lynn Elliot, new meat manager at Eagle Thrifty and Ron Nebecker, right, store manager, both took over their positions May 1. Nebecker said the meat department at Eagle Thrifty offers "the finest and widest variety of meat on the North Shore." Nebecker had been with Safeway 15 years, the last five at Lake Tahoe, Elliot, an Incline resident, had been with Safeway five years, the last two at Lake Tahoe. The store is open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Title Insurance Moves To New Incline Village Location

Large Crowd At Grand Opening

More than 200 businessmen from the Incline Village area were wined, dined and entertained at Title Insurance & Trust Co. grand opening at their new location in Incline Village last Friday.

The company which specializes in escrow work has moved into a modern "Incline-designed" building in the upper shopping center. The move was made to handle the company's increasing work-load according to Branch Manager Ron Bridges.

Title Insurance moved into Incline in 1963 with a office staff of two. The new office will have a staff of 10 and a working space of 2,400 square feet.

Bridges, in moving into the new office, received a promotion from Class D to Class B manager.

He has been an employe of the Title Insurance chain for 5 1/2 years. The past 2 1/2 have been at Incline Village where he resides with his wife Marilyn and son Greg. Since his stay at Incline Bridges has been active in many civic affairs.

Among those attending the opening celebration was George Vicari, manager of Northern Nevada Operations for Title Insurance. Vicari said the new Incline office is now the largest in Nevada and that he is extremely optimistic about its future.

Bedient And Chessmen: Still Sizzlin'

RENO – Each show opens with a bank and ends with a virtual 21-cannon salute in Harolds 7th Floor Fun Room, where Reno's most exciting attraction lists Jack Bedient and the Chessmen, comedian, Dick Weston and the Orchestra of Don Conn.

Half the kick in Chessmen shows is what happens in the audience. And what happens in the audience when the Chessmen circulate among tablers is different every show.

It's not all comedy, however- not when Bedient shakes the rafters with "My Prayer" and "Lord, You Gave Me a Mountain." That's serious singing. That's a sound beautiful.

A sound astounding is what originates in the very discreet voice box of ventriloquist Dick Weston and emerges from the life-life mouths of Aunt Martha and Clarence.

While Aunt Martha Scrounges for a man-any man-Clarence looks at life through an alcoholic haze and manges to talk while Weston actually drinks a small glass of tea. That's just one of the phenomenal Weston things you have to see to believe.

Shows in Harolds Fun Room are twice nightly at 9 and midnight and thrice on Saturdays with the late 2:30 a.m. show.

Harolds current showbill prevails through Monday. On May 27, The Boots Randolph Show takes over Harolds Top-floor nitery.

$2.2 Million Bid For Incline Village Job

An apparent low bid of $2,278,732 for construction of improvements in the first two residential developments of Incline Village Inc. has been submitted by A. Teichert & Sons Construction Co. of Sacramento.

The two units total 766 lots in cluster developments. All will be underground. The only improvements the lots will not have are curbs, gutters, sidewalks and street lights.

Trees have already been cleared for the roadways and an improvement contract is scheduled to be awarded Wednesday.

Other bidders at offices of the Incline Village General Improvement District were Tab Construction Co. of Reno, Nev., $3,773,242; Perini Corp. of San Francisco, $2,979,962, and a combine of H. M. Byars of Las Vegas and Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co., $2,810,-891.

Completion of work is scheduled for Dec. 1. Work will be paid for through assessment bonds sold by the improvement district. The district eventually will own off-site improvements and greenbelts set aside by the developer.

Chataux To Open June 1

The $40,000 redecorating and refurbishing work at the Incline Chataux is right on schedule, James L. Carey, general manager of Incline club and resort operations said today.

"We'll be all set for our big spring opening Sunday, June 1," Carey said.

"We plan to host a cocktail hour at 5 p.m. that day," he said.

"All of the construction work has been completed, including our new entry way, new check room, new office area and other interior details," Carey reported.

New furniture and drapes will arrive next week, the dance floor and bandstand will be relocated, then, with the addition of painting, the job will be complete, Carey noted.

Nursing Classes Extended

CARSON CITY—Ormsby County School District will start the third class of the Sierra Nevada School of Practical nursing on Aug. 18. Applications for the class will be accepted up to June 13.

The program will be held in cooperation with the Carson-Tahoe Hospital and the Vocational Technical Division of the Nevada Department of Education.

The class will be limited to 15 qualified persons and will be for 50 weeks. Upon completion of the course, the student may make application for a practical nursing license. Each candidate must provide for their own needs, such as food, lodging, and clothing. The other cost will be buying of uniforms and books for the class.

Entrance requirements are as follows: Must be 17 years of age or older, male or female, single or married, good physical and mental health, good moral character, neat personal appearance, and at least two years of high school or equivalent.

Each successful candidate must have a complete physical examination which includes blood tests, serology, urinalysis, chest X-ray, and a complete record of immunization.

Each applicant must have three letters of recommendation submitted with their application. Application blanks may be obtained from the administration office of the Ormsby County School District, 1402 West King St.

Tahoe-Truckee High's Dress Code Fight Over?

TRUCKEE – Requests that student dress code changes be revised from students of Truckee High School were turned down by Trustees of Tahoe-Truckee Unified School District last Wednesday.

The board action came after a month of meetings with teachers, parents and students.

A packed house of parents were on hand at the meeting who protested any changes and favored students abiding by rules and regulations set down by the school administration.

Before the discussion began, parents presented a petition signed by 115 persons who protested any change in the dress code.

Students, who said a student poll supported the proposals, wanted boys to be allowed to wear hair to the shoulders, provided that the hair is clean and neat at all times. They also wanted sideburns an inch below the ear and always neatly trimmed.

Sideburns may now be worn to the bottom of the ear and hair has to be trimmed or tapered up the back of the neck, above the collar line, away from the ears and short enought to stay out of the eyes.

Girls wanted skirt length dictated by good taste only. Now they must be, at least three-fourths of the way from the waist to the knee. Girls also wanted pants, slacks and jeans allowed in classrooms and at informal activities. Slacks are not allowed now except during snowstorms or on very cold days.

The board granted a 16 per cent across-the-board raise to all certificated teachers next year. This will cost the district $125,000, including salaries of five additional teachers.

The salary schedule will now start at $7,308 with a top of $13,050.

Fifty-nine classified employes were given an eight per cent increase which whole amount to $28,209 more.

Salaries will start at $367 per month and go to $758 in 11 steps.

Ground Broken For New Reno Motor Inn

RENO–A 17-story, 106 motor inn at First and West Streets will begin construction July 1, according to John Cavanaugh, Sr. and John Cavanaugh, Jr., owners and builders of Arlington Towers, the 22-story office-apartment complex which will be immediately adjacent to the new hotel.

Completion is scheduled for February 1, 1970.

The motor inn, as yet unnamed, will be constructed atop the Arlington Towers Garage, east of the Towers.

Cavanaugh, Sr., a native Nevadan, is a general partner in Club Cal-Neva in Reno and Cal-Neva Lodge at Incline

He is also a founding director of Project: RENO-vation, and was among those trustees who recently visited the office of George Romney in Washington seeking federal aid for the project.

"RENOvation believes the future of this city is in a revitalized downtown," Cavanaugh said. "We were the first to reestablish confidence in the core area when we built Arlington Towers."

"Its success has encouraged us to add a tourist facility to the overall complex," he said.

Cavanaugh said the total development of the Towers and the motor inn will make it one of the largest in the West. With the addition of 77,000 square feet for the new motor inn, the total development will compete 410,-000 square feet.

Parking in the garage will handle 300 cars.

The motor inn will add 11 stories on a six-story garage. The seventh floor, between the towers and the motor inn, will be a completely landscaped deck containing a glass covered swimming pool for all year swimming, a restaurant, meeting rooms, private dining rooms, and bar. A night display of "dancing waters" will be seen from the windows of both the apartment and hotel.

Cavanaugh said that all 106 rooms in the motor inn will be of suite proportions – 25 per cent larger than normal."

Stampede Reservoir Under Watchful Eye

RENO – Looking beyond present unusually wet conditions, the agency charged with helping provide an adequate Reno-Sparks area domestic water supply wants to start storing in Stampede Reservoir as soon as possible after dam completion when Little Truckee River water is available for conservation.

Directors of the Carson – Truckee Water Conservancy District in a letter to Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel urged speedy action to execute a repayment contract so conservation of water can begin in Stampede.

Robert S. Leighton, district secretary, told Hickel a necessary supplementary contract "adopted as to form by the district" more than three years ago "has not been heard of since" it was forwarded to Interior.

"This is an item of serious concern to the district because the need for this water was projected to be in 1970" when Stampede is scheduled to be finished, Leighton wrote.

The district secretary admitted because of the present abundant water year, the need is not imminent. But, he reminded Hickel, "the value of Stampede Reservoir to the municipal and industrial water supply is due to the increased holdover storage which will provide municipal and industrial water during a dry cycle.

"We feel that Stampede Reservoir should store water for conservation purposes as soon as it is available after the dam is completed, the water to be used for satisfaction of municipal and industrial water needs. There will be no water available for storage in Stampede Reservoir during a dry period, therefore, we must not miss an opportunity to store water when it is available," Leighton noted.

In past dry cycles, Leighton informed Hickel, water shortages have prevented Truckee Meadows farmers from using as much water as necessary for irrigation.

However, more and more of the farm land is being converted to subdivision or industrial use, Leighton explained, creating "a need for additional holdover storage to bridge the dry cycles because municipal and industrial water needs cannot survive the water shortages that agriculture use can."

"The project could well be needed before it is constructed, considering the time involved to review and revise the present plan," Leighton said.

DISCUSS FUTURE – Ron Bridges and George Vicari discuss the future of Title Insurance in front of their new office location at Incline Village.

Recent visitors to Darlyn and Jack Knorpp at Incline Village were Major Jim and Tina Low. Major Low is a Korean War ace and was recently released by exchange from a Vietnam prison camp.

He spent two months in solitary and eight months in the prison camp before the exchange. He is now stationed at Hamilton Field where he will be phased out by his own choice.

The major and Jack were in service together – Jack was a jet pilot too.

Work Begins On $135,000 Sales Pavilion

INCLINE VILLAGE – Ground was broken last Wednesday for a $135,000 display pavilion for this pine-studded Lake Tahoe community.

The building is designed to exhibit the esthetic architectural standards set by the Incline Village developer, Boise Cascade Properties Inc., according to Vaughn Burlingham, project manager. Target date for completion is July 15.

"It is an extension of the forest," said Dean Johnson, AIA, designer. He also serves as a member of Incline's architectural control committee.

The building will serve as a display center for Incline's sales department, according to Jon Adams, sales director.

The pavilion, being constructed by Dave Kindred, Incline contractor, is on a site selected for its vantage point. It faces due south, on Tahoe Boulevard, which will become State Highway 28, May 30. The windowed lounge offers a panorama of Lake Tahoe, Ski Incline and a mountain backdrop.

"It's designed around the trees on a natural site," said Johnson. "We designed and put it there to enhance the area, not compete with it.

"We located parking in natural clearings, removing a minimum of trees. We even ordered paving in color that blends with the woods," Johnson said.

The building serves as an exhibit of Incline's architectural standards, produced in physical form. Boise Cascade executives hope it will set the standard for future shopping center and commercial buildings.

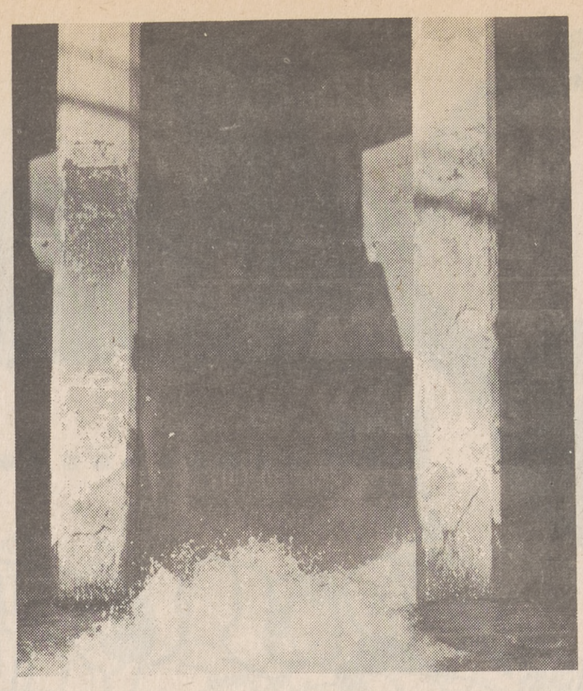
"The high gabled roof gives it almost a churchlike atmosphere," Johnson continued. "It has a little alcove with displays for people to explore. It has photo-murals on the walls. The biggest mural of all is the main window of the lounge. It's a breathtaking view of the lake and mountains."

The center of the building, flanked by a mezzanine, will display an exact scale contour relief map of Incline Village. The model includes every tree, roadway and development detail.

A stone fireplace accents the interior, separating the display are from the lounge.

Inside and out, the building is all finished in rough wood, featuring huge beams and large wood trim details.

Though situated on high ground above Tahoe Boulevard, there will be an entrance road, leaving the highway at grade, winding up to the cluster of parking spaces nestled among the tall Ponderosa pines behind the pavilion.



RELEASE GATE – The Truckee River gates at Tahoe City, which control water flow and volume for Lake Tahoe are under the supervision of Federal watermaster Claude Dukes. The recent reduction in water flow has stabilized and lessened chances of possible flooding of the Truckee Meadows, Dukes has stated.

STUDENT BODY LEADERS – Incline High's recent student body went to the polls last week and elected their class officers for the 1969-70 school year. From left to right are the winners, Larry Hume, president; Mae Kindred, vice-president; Debby Hancock, treasurer and Thoebe Lowell, secretary. At far right is Incline High principal, Carl Shaff, who looks over the final tabulations. Shaff was a member of the election board, and supervised the counting of the heavy balloting.

Draft Status Keyed To Information

CARSON CITY – "It is the duty of every registrant to keep his local board currently advised of any information that might affect his classification," said Col. Addison A. Millard, Nevada director of Selective Service, in issuing this reminder to all selective service registrants in order that they not become delinquent for violation of the Selective Service law.

Some of the most common facts young men fail or forget to report to their local boards are a change in home address, occupation, marital or dependency status or their physical condition.

A registrant must report any change in his status to his local draft board within ten days after such change occurs. This information should be submitted in writing. Of particular concern this time of year is the status of students deferred under II–S classification and students or apprentices deferred in Class II–A who are pursuing a nondegree course of study.

II–S students are normally deferred for one academic year at a time. This means that a student is deferred for a 12 month period to coincide with his normal enrollment during his school year which, for example, can be from October 1 to the following October 1.

A deferment may be granted only so long as the individual is a full–time student making normal progress towards graduation and who has not reached age 24.

Some individuals have misunderstood that when they receive their student deferment for one academic year that they are "free" from the draft for that year regardless of what they do. This is not the case.

If an individual graduate, does not carry a full–time course showing normal progress towards graduation or turns 24 years of age the reason for his deferment has ceased to exist and he can no longer be deferred under the law.

Registrant classified II–A who are pursuing nonbaccalaureate degrees such as some junior college students, vocational or business college students and apprentices may be deferred one year at a time or until the completion of the particular course for which they are registered so long as they maintain a fulltime course of study.

Most violations occur because a registant thoughtlessly fails to report a change in his status. Failing to report these changes can cause a young man to loose his deferment and be ordered for induction into the armed forces as a delingquent.

Maximum penalty that can be assessed for any one violation of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967 is imprisonment of not more than five years, a fine of not more than $10,000 or both.

If a registrant has any questions concerning his status or what information he should report to his local board he should call the nearest draft board office for information.

Heyns Chosen As Speaker

RENO – Chancellor Roger W. Heyns of the University of California at Berkeley will be the speaker at June 7 commencement exercises at the University of Nevada, Reno.

Selection of the 1969 speaker was announced by President N. Edd Miller, who served with Heyns for 18 years at the University of Michigan before they both moved west in 1965.

Heyns, holder of numerous awards for his teaching and administrative accomplishments, was the principal speaker at the installation of Dr. Miller as chief ececutive of the Reno campus. The California educator holds both his master's and doctoral degrees in the field of psychology. He was academic vice president at Michigan before moving to California.

This year's Reno commencement will be held in the open for the first time. It is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the tree–lined quadrangle in the center of the campus, although standby arrangements have been made to conduct the exercises at the Centennial Coliseum in event of bad weather.

Old World Elegance

Europeans have been doing it for years—following a big meal with small portions of cheese and fruit. It's a dessert so simple, yet so elegant that princes and paupers alike claim it for their own. Try serving mellow American blue cheese with oranges, apples and other seasonal fruits. It's a wonderful heritage from our forebearers.

Editor's Letter Box

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

We, the Citizens for Tahoe County, in the El Dorado portion of Lake Tahoe Basin earnestly invite our neighbors in the Placer County portion to join us in our endeavor of forming a new county in Tahoe Basin on the California side.

It may help us to get more for our taxes, settle more of our common problems. The orderly progress of our basin demands that we be able to work directly with each other and not people who live and think many miles away from us. How can people whose economy is so different from ours understand our needs?

We desire to communicate directly with you. Invite us to send a speaker to you organizations so that we may enlist your aid. We need you now.

Program Aids Disabled

SACRAMENTO – Most of the 10,389 disabled persons rehabilitated into employment or useful activity by the State Department of Rehabilitation during fiscal year 1968 were married males between the ages of 20 and 44.

They were graduated from high school and had at least one dependent but were dependent upon others for support. This composite description was derived from a study made by the Department of Rehabilitation of personal characteristics of disabled persons it had rehabilitated last year.

"We discovered an additional bonus while examining our statisitcs," said State Director of Rehabilitation Robert E. Howard, "in that these rehabilitations also benefited about 15,000 other persons who were dependent on the people we had rehabilitated."

Among the categories of personal characteristics analyzed by the Department of Rehabilitation in its study were age, number of dependents, education, marital status, sex, primary source of support, Social Security Disability Insurance status and source of referral. The findings follow.

– Most of the persons rehabilitated, or 60 per cent, were between 20 and 44 years of age. Twenty–four per cent were between 45 and 64; about 14 per cent were under 20 years of age; and about 1 per cent were over 65 years of age.

– Sixty per cent of the rehabilitants had at least one dependent; 20 per cent had four or more dependents. Assuming that the dependents shared in the benefits of the rehabilitants, the total vocational effort may have directly benefited about 25,000 persons.

– At the time the rehabilitants were accepted for service by the Department of Rehabilitation, they were asked about their education. Slightly more than 7 per cent had not completed grammar school and an additional 9 per cent had only grade eight education.

About 31 per cent had dropped out of high school. The largest single group, 39 per cent, were graduated from high school but went no further. About 11 per cent of the rehabilitated clients attended but had not completed college, with 3 per cent receiving college degrees.

– The largest group of clients (42 per cent) were married at the time they became clients of the Department of Rehabilitation. The second largest group, or 33 per cent, had never been married. Among the remaining 25 per cent who had been married at one time, just more than half were divorced at the time of their qualifying for services, about one–third were separated, and the remaining few were widowed.

– Males outnumbered females two to one – about the same ratio as found in California's total working population.

– Upon their becoming clients of the Department of Rehabilitation, the rehabilitants were asked about the primary source of their financial support. The largest group (37 per cent) consisted of those persons who depended upon their family or friends for support.

About 13 per cent supported themselves from current earnings or other private income. Less than 1 per cent was being supported by private relief agencies.

The remaining half were supported at the time they became rehabilitation clients by a public welfare agency (20 per cent), by public or private insurance (18 per cent), by a tax–supported institution (7 per cent) or by other miscellaneous means.

SAN FRANCISCO – Millinery has been softened for fall.

There are berets – halo or forward pancake. Also seen are few . . . rounded roque; 30 'cloche, draped turban, Indian headbands, portrait brims, evening whimsies.

The fur hats are pretty in Persian, sable, spotted car, otter, mink, wool challis, needlepoint, jersey, felt, matching muffs and boas.

Adolfo has some of the smartest hats for the new season.

Tailored golves are wrist length and gauntlet length.

This is the season of so many stockings – cuffed knee socks . . . textured for country.

Sheer opaques — black, brown, navy, grey, burgundy, dill and red for day – are seen.

Sheers – deepened brown–Cuir Sauvage, brightened navy, indigo, pale grey, mistral, taupe, burnt almond – are also featured.

Sheer textures are also featured for daytime leathers and fabrics.

Sparkle sheers – pearl, silver, white, grey, navy, brown and black are spotlighted for evening. Sheer metallic – gold or silver – are for evening.

Panty hose, with new reinforced power–net girdle get stressed.

Thigh–hi's (no garter necessary) are also featured.

Conversational stockings are sheers decorated with embroidery, animal prints.

Hats may be having comeback problems, but the hosiery business is flourishing. Colored hose have passed the beige stocking for fall.

Summer Desserts Cool It

Now's the time to think about refreshing summer desserts. And refreshing it will be when you treat your family to Lemon Freeze! Atop a corn flake crumbs crust is a creamy blend of sweetened condensed milk lightened by beaten egg whites and delicately flavored with lemon juice. If your Lemon Freeze is frozen very hard, try setting the ice cube tray on a hot towel for a few minutes before cutting.

LEMON FREEZE

2 cups corn flakes or
1/2 cup corn flake crumbs
1 1/3 cups (15–oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup regular margarine or butter, melted
1/3 cup lemon juice
2 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons sugar

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs with rolling pin. Combine corn flake crumbs, the 2 tablespoons sugar and margarine in ice cube tray; mix well. Reserve 2 tablespoons of crumbs mixture for topping. With back of tablespoon press remainder evenly and firmly in botton of ice cube tray. Chill.

In medium size mixing bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice; stir until thickened. Add egg yolks; mix well. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in the 3 tablespoons sugar and continue beating until egg whites are stiff, but not dry; gently fold into condensed milk mixture. Spread evenly over crumbs curst; sprinkle with reserved crumbs mixture.

Place on bottom of the freezer compartment of refrigerator, taking care to allow air circulation around the tray to assure freezing. Freeze 6 to 8 hours or until firm. Cut into pie wedges or bars to serve.

Yield: 8 servings

REFRESHING IT IS – Ice box desserts are always a favorite when warm weather dampens appetities. Add a new corn flake crust to the tangy fresh flavor of lemon and you have a tantalizing lemon freeze to please the family and guests.

Beauty Theme Of Workshop

Gray Reid's annual "Seventeen Beauty Workshop" will begin May 24, 1969, and will be held for six consecutive Saturdays, the Gray Reid's Checkerboard Council announced this week.

The workshop is for girls ages 13–19, and all girls of the Reno–Sparks area are eleigible to participate. Registration is $5 per person with a limited enrollment.

Registration for the classes to be held from 1:30 to 2:30 P.M. at the WYCA can be handled at the Campus Corners at both Gray Reid's stores in Reno and Carson City.

High Altitude Gardening

By RONALD H. GUSTAFSON
Washoe County Extension Horticulturist

What has the responsibility and purpose to develop and promote – better gardening by instructing the public on all gardening subjects – the development of Natural Beauty in homes, community and the Nation – to increase gardening education by demonstrations, shows and awards – and to develop a spirit of friendliness?

The people involved are of good character and community standing and interested in gardens directly or indirectly. Enough for guessing games. The object in question is a Man's Garden Club.

Reno now has a Man's Garden Club. The organizational meeting was held April 22, at the Washoe County Extension Service Office, 1100 No. Wells Ave.

Any men interested in learning more about gardening, judging, demonstrations, etc., can still become involved. The Men's Garden Club of Reno is affiliated with the National Organization of Men's Clubs and has the benefit of their vast knowledge and resources.

My lawn is full of weeds – What can I do to kill them? Surely, a question we've all had at one time or another. The answer to this question is often difficult. First let's divide the weeds into two classes; the broadleaf weeds and the grass weeds. Most of the broadleaf weeds can be eliminated with one or more applications of 2,–4–D with the proper amounts. One application will kill such weeds as plantain, buckhorn, or dandelion, without damage to the permanent lawn. This will also suppress growth of white clover, but will seldom kill it with one application. The chemicals, 2,4,5–T or Silvex will work better on some of the tougher weeds, such as chickweed and the clovers.

Grassy weeds present a much tougher problem. Dalapon applied to individual plants or spot treatment will give control of perennial grasses such as orchardgrass, quackgrass and nimblewill. This chemical will also kill desirable lawn varieties, so limit the areas sprayed. Crabgrass can be controlled by the use of Bandane or Chlorodane. These weed grasses can also be controlled by mechanical means by actually digging them out of your lawn.

In some areas where you don't want any vegetation, Sinazine, or Atrazine may be use. There is very little lateral movement of these chemicals and are quite safe to use, however, they will kill all vegetation.

If a chemical used killer is used, always be sure to read the label. Find out what is the rate of application; when is the best time to apply; how to apply; what type of weed is it used for? Be extremely careful with chemicals when applying, for drift may harm neighboring vegetation. Don't let chemicals get on your clothing or yourself. Always keep in a locked cupboard out of reach of pets and children.

A sparyer used to apply weed killer should be used only for that purpose.

Job Corps Study Sought

WASHINGTON – Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, of the Second (mountain–valley counties) District has called on Congress to declare itself as opposed to any suspension of Job Corps facilities pending a congressional review of the situation.

"The House of Representatives' Education and Labor Committee currently is considering the extension of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, including the Job Corps program," said Johnson who had testified before that committee urging extension of the Job Corps program.

"With Congress considering the future of the program, it is no time to virtually eliminate the conservation center aspect of it."

Three conservation centers–Toyon near Redding, Sly Park near Placerville and Five Mile near Sonora – are threatened with closing in the immediate future.

Johnson has introduced a resolution which declares:

"Whereas irreparable damage to the future lives of many thousands of young men and women and substantial depletion of available trainers and instructors for such programs will be caused by the closing of Job Corps installations which Congress may decide should be retained; now therefore be it

"Resolved, that any action to shut down any Job Corps installation be suspended until the Congress has had an opportunity to review the Job Corps program in deciding upon extension of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended, and appropriations for that program."

Johnson said a similar resolution is pending before the Senate.

'Smut' Battle

WASHINGTON – Nevada Sen. Alan Bible has joined in sponsoring hard–hitting legislation to crack down on "merchants of filth" who flood the mails with solicitations for the sale of pornographic materials.

The language of the legislation is similar – and in some parts identical – to the anti–pornography bill Bible authored as part of his Omnibus Crime Control Act for the District of Columbia in 1967.

Introduced as two separate measures, the new proposal would tighten loopholes in the law by cracking down on pornographic "pandering" by mail while specifically strengthening portection for young people.

Nevada Eyes Water Supply

By PATRICK A. DOMENICO
Research Associate for
Desert Research Institute

Man has been attempting to manage river systems since the early stages of modern civilization. Problems then were not unlike those faced today.

The central trouble is that surface water is usually available at times, in places and of a quality different from those which characterize the demand for it. This maldistribution is generally of three kinds: geographical, annual and seasonal.

Theoretically, if not technically, the geographical aspect is most easily remedied, as witnessed by the mass transport of water from areas of surplus to areas of deficiency and the grandiose schemes to continue more of the same.

The maldistribution of surface–water resources in time (annual or seasonal) is a much more complex problem. Not only must impounding and conveying structures be built, but a set of rules is required for their operation such that water shortages are alleviated in the most satisfactory manner.

Subsurface, or ground–water resources, are insensitive to unpredictable annual or seasonal whims of nature. A ground–water basin normally has some natural rate of annual replenishment which may be perennially exploited.

This natural replenishment, considered a flow resource, has made available a large volume of ground water in storage, considered a stock resource. When replenishment is in short supply because of low precipitation, users may draw on the stock for years or even decades with little ill effect. Maldistribution in tiem, then, is virtually nonexistent for subsurface waters.

The combined use of surface and subsurface waters to meet specified demands in an area may be termed an integrated water resource system. The optional utilization of this combined resource often becomes essential for the establishment of stable economic and social structures.

The term "optimal" immediately raises several questions: optimal (or best) for whom?; optimal (or most favorable) to what end?; optimal under what conditions?

These questions require an answer in their social and economic contexts. Research such as that carried on at the Desert Research Institute can only provide a set of designs, plans and operating rules and their outcomes in terms of goods and services for the respective investment.

Integrated water resource systems are not uncommon in Nevada. Surface water systems such as the Truckee, Carson, Walker and Humboldt Rivers are well known for their "feast or famine" characteristics with regard to annual and seasonal quantities of water available.

The municipal water supply in Truckee Meadows is both surface and subsurface in origin. A large number of wells have been drilled in Smith and Mason valleys to supplement the low flows experienced on the Walker River. During seasons of low surface flow, the wells are used extensively; during seasons of high surface flow, the wells may not be used at all or used to a limited extent.

Demand for subsurface water is then dictated by the deficiencies in surface water, and this relatively minor utilization of the subsurface supply eliminates the time–maldistribution problem common to most of Western Nevada. From a research point of view, the economic question is to determine the optimum level of investment in the subsurface resource so that the agricultural benefits derived from use of the total resource is maximized.

The technological problem is to provide a set of rules under which the total system can be operated. These are questions to which answers are being sought for a related problem on the Humboldt River.

The Las Vegas integrated water resource system is also under study, and is of a different kind with a different set of objectives. Continued use of the ground–water stock has provided a tax base necessary to support importing of relatively expensive Lake Mead water.

Because of the great quantity of water soon to be available and the large differences in the cost of the respective supplies, we visualize no imminent water shortage problems, only economic problems.

Economic efficiency means, in this case, that the municipal water demand of Las Vegas be met at minimum cost. Our approach to the problem is to devise a set of rules that advises responsible authorities on how much water to import and how much to pump.

Another type of water resource system being studied in Nevada is the separate unit operating independently of a retional supply.

These are the high–level valleys in eastern and other parts of Nevada where ground water is the only source of supply for agricultural production. Again, our objectives here are dictated by the particular problems of the area.

Any course of action is deemed favorable if it is aimed at maximizing the welfare of a retion and takes into account existing rights. To examine the course of exploitation which be "best" from this economic and social point of view, inquiries are made as to how much water should be permanently removed from storage, at what rate, and over how long a time period; and how much should be left in the underground reservoir, and at what level.
